OF UNFORTUNATE YOUNG MAN WILL BE INTER-RED AT CLOPTON CEMETERY, NEAR BRENT'S STATION.

No recent death in an accidental manner caused such universal regret in the city as that of young Daniel Barker, who, as noted in The Journal of Saturday morning, was crushed under a freight car and was lifeless when friends reached his side. Young Barker was married but a short time, his wife being Miss Annie Allen, daughter of Prof. I. E. Allen, and the happy marriage occurred about fourteen months ago. The girl also survives him.

Prof. Allen came to the city yesterday to be with his grief-striken daughter. The death of the young man also greatly affected him. He said he was a model son-in-law.

The funeral of the young man will occur at 10 o'clock this morning, the gardies to be held at the Bartist Ride in a 20-Mile services to be held at the Baptist church, Brent's, at the hour named. At 9 o'clock a special train will leave the city with the remains, bearing the grief-striken relatives and many young railroad men who desire to be present and see the last sad service over the remains of their comrade. as cheap as in the ordinary 7 or 8 Soon after the funeral the train, mile kind. There is real enjoyment in which may be made up of a couple of coaches, will return to the city.

Just how the young man came to fall to his death will never be known. It was stated by railroad men that a day. single car was attached to an engine which was backing southward on Tarragona street, and just before reaching the Gregory street intersection the accident occurred. Young Barker was known to be on the top of the car, but whether he walked too far toward the end and lost his balance McKinnonville, April 30 .- Mr. and or was jolted therefrom will never be wheels and the engine was signalled
